QEGS CELEBRATES EXCELLENT A-LEVEL RESULTS

Queen Elizabeth Grammar School has today received an excellent and well-deserved set of A-level results. The impressive results are a fitting culmination to the 2021 leavers' time at QEGS.

Jonathan Osunde and Joseph Gueli are both going to continue their studies at Cambridge University in the fields of Architecture and Law respectively.

Twins, Ben and Dan Cousins are both going to their first choice universities.

Having studied the same subjects at A level, Ben is going to York to study Geography with a year in industry, with Dan heading to Newcastle for History.

This is a busy week of celebration for the boys as they turn 18 tomorrow!

And our Head Boy, Swapnil Sahoo is pursuing his dream of a career in Medicine at the University of Leicester, having been awarded a prestigious Centenary scholarship at the start of his studies.

Overall, 38% of boys achieved the top A* and A grades in three or more subjects. The vast majority of boys will go on to study at their first-choice university, attaining places on the most prestigious courses, including Medicine, Law, Architecture, Mathematics, Aerospace Engineering, Economics, Computer Science and Business Management. We also have boys beginning apprenticeships with top Financial firms, following rigorous and highly competitive selection processes.

Martin Shevill, interim Head, stated: "Well done to all our boys on an outstanding set of A-level results. These results are matched by their achievements beyond the classroom and their contributions to the life of the school. Following a challenging 18 months, I have nothing but praise for the determination and resilience shown by the boys and staff."

Richard Brookes, the incoming Head from September, added: "It is testament to the efforts of the boys and staff at QEGS that they have achieved such great results. I am proud to be joining a school where the values of hard work, academic aspiration and commitment to the school are so clear. I look forward to welcoming the 2021 leavers to the alumni community."
